

Instructions for using your Inkless Print Kit

- The kit is supplied with one towelette wipe and four pre-cut pieces of special paper used to collect the prints
- Do not open the wipe until you are ready to use it. Once opened it can be folded over and used multiple times before it becomes less effective.
- The inkless wipe is NOT a wet wipe. It will feel quite dry to the touch – this is normal.
- Ensure that the paw is clean and dry. The less hair the better!
- Clipping may be required to ensure you obtain the best image.
- Place the special paper on a hard surface, for example a hardcover book or a tray. Securing the paper with a paper clip will stop the paper from moving about.
- IMPORTANT – Make sure the slightly glossy surface of the special paper is facing upwards – nothing will happen if the paper is the wrong way up. (If no prints appear, quickly turn the paper over, re-apply the wipe and try again.
- The best definition is achieved by wiping the paw in one direction rather than “scrubbing” the paw with the wipe. The paw will have a glossy appearance once applied.
- If you are the person applying the wipe be cautious not to touch the paper, as your prints will appear! Having the paper ready before you wipe the paw is best.
- The collection of your furry friends pawprint can sometimes be a challenge! After the paw has been wiped, hold it in your hand and either place it on the paper or bring the paper up to the paw. Having a hard surface as backing is recommended. Roll the paw from the back to front holding for 5-10 seconds then move the paw straight up and away from the paper. The image will appear and darken over a few minutes.
- Remember the darkness of the print isn't as important as the consistency of the print itself.
- As with all prints the image will smudge if the paper or paw moves while the print is being taken. Excessive pressure will result in a darker print with less detail.
- Don't get discouraged, it sometimes takes a couple of tries before you obtain the best print! If you find yourself or your pet becoming frustrated with the process, take a break and try again later. Simply fold up the wipe and place it back into the package or place it into a zip lock baggy for use later.
